STRONGER 2010
MIVV ANSWER TO THE OFF-ROAD

Performance, usability and design, are the winning features of the new range of off-road exhausts of the Italian manufacturer. And the mapping? The dedicated controller will take care of it...

Result of the great experience built over the racing tracks, the 2010 version of the Stronger line was designed and built with professional racers and amateurs alike in mind, especially the most demanding ones.

The use of the best materials, and the precision of the couplings, which ensures extreme ease of assembly, are common features for all MIVV products, while the dB-killer in the same colour as the bodywork, with laser markings, is exclusive to the STRONGER range.

Developed thanks to an intense bench working program, completed in conjunction with strict field tests, the main feature of the 2010 version is a delivery that enhances use at low regimes, the most common engine rotation conditions.

The field of action has been expanded to Motocross and Enduro; There are two versions available: Stronger titanium, for those who don't like to compromise, and Stronger in stainless steel, for the ones who go straight to the point. Also two, are the available configurations: slip-on silencer and full system.

MIVV feels it is important to point out that fitting a Stronger 2010 exhaust means complying with FIM regulations in terms of noise emissions.

In addition, for the most demanding drivers, MIVV has developed an electronic controller with specific mappings for each type of off-road motorbike, optimizing exhaust performance, and maximising engine performance.
